INSULT AND INJURY.

The Man That Took a Header Into a

Dry Plunge. "Talk about adding insult to said Luvrum, according to the New York Times, as with the aid of a heavy cane he hobbled to his favorite seat in the Rounder's club the other afternoon, "something happened to me last night that capped the climax in that direction, as far as my experience goes. I dined some friends of mine from out of town last evening. They were old college chums, you know, and, as we had not met for years, we lining cup was passed steadily around until my friends had to leave for midnight train. It was a very hot night and the wine had more than a usual effect | upon me. The result was that I was very much befuddled, and, as is my custom on such rare occasions, I turned my feet Turkish-bathward. I went down futo the hot room. A strong desire came upon me to jump into the big cold plungs there without waiting for the usual scrubbing by the attendant. It has been my habit to forego the use of the stairs leading down into the plunge, and to simply get up on the marble railing and fail off backward Into the cooling waters. So up on the marble railing I stepped and threw myself off. There was not a solitary drop of water in that plunge. The attendants had emptied it for the purpose of eleaning it. Down I went, full six feet, and landed squarely or my back on the marble bottom. No, I did not break my back and fracture my skull, though it is a wonder that I did not. So much for the injury. Now let me tell you about the insult. As I lay there on my back, partially stunned, an attendant came, and, shaking me roughly by the shoulder, said: 'Say, If you do that again you will be put out. If I did it again I would be put out! Wonder if he thought I did it for

LAUGHTER AND TEARS. Legend of a Strange Meeting in a Nar-

Laughter and Tears met one day in a shady lane. The sunshine and shades mingled there, and the breath of the woods was strong in the air, as was also the fragrance of the clover field near by. But the lane, says the Detroit Free Prose, was all too narrow to allow both to pass, for Laughter was boisterous, and romped about so much that he took up a deal of room, while Tears seemed to be half blind and could scarcely see

She said, in a voice like the song of a night-bird: "Why don't you let me pass? This is my path."

"No," replied Laughter, "this lane is mine, and I am in a harry, so you'd better climb the fence into the dark woods, and walk through the dead beaves. "Why don't you climb the other fence," said Tears, softly, "and run along through the clover, in the sunshine? I'm sure you'd like it better."

"Well," rejoined Laughter, pleasant ly, "I'm sure I don't want to quarrel with so gentle a maiden, and so, as we don't seem able to agree about the path, suppose I turn about and go with you?" That would be very pleasant, indeed," said Tears, "for I am lonely."

So they went on together, through the twinkling shine and shadow, and each felt better for the company of the

And that is why it is that when you meet Laughter you are almost sure to find Tears not far away.

Used in Millions of Homes-40 Years the Standard

Abraham Lincoln

When leaving his home at Springfield Ill., to be inaugurated as president of the United States, made a farewell address to his old friends and neighbors, in which he said, "Neighbors, give your boys a chance."

These words come with as much force oday as they did thirty years ago. How give them this chance? Up in the northwest is a great empire waiting for young and sturdy fel-lows to come and develop it and "grow up with the country." All over this broad land are the young fellows, the boys that Lincoln referred to, seeking to better their condition and get on in

The country referred to lies along the Northern Pacific railroad. Here you can find pretty much anything you want. In Minnesets, and in the Red river val ey of North Dakota, the finest of prairie lands fitted for wheat and grain, or as well for diversified farming. In Western North Dakota and Montana are stock ranges limitless in extent, clothed with the most nutritious

If a fruit farming region is wanted, there is the whole state of Washington to select from. As for scenic delights, the Northern Pacific railroad passes through a country unparalleled. In crossing the Rocky, Enter Root and Cascade mountains the greatest scenery to be seen in the United States from car windows is found. The wonderful bad lands, won-derful in graceful form and glowing color, are a poem. Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Cour d'Alene are alone worthy of a trans-continental trip, while they are the fisherman' Ultima Thule. The ride along Clark's Fork of the Columbia river is a daylight dream. To cap the climax, this is the only way to reach the far famed Yellowstone Park. T reach and see all this the North-ern Pacific railroad furnish trains and service of unsurpassed excellence. The most approved and comfortable palace sleeping cars; the best dining cars that can be made; Pullman tourist cars good for both first and second class passen-gers; easy riding day coaches, with bag-gage, express and postal cars, all drawn by powerful Baldwin locomotives, make a train fit for roya ty itself.

Those seeking for new homes should take this train and go and spy out the land. To be prepared, write to CHAS. F. FEE, G. P. & T. A., St. Paul, Minn.
